Product Description

Ochno retractable cable management provides a clean and practical way to manage USB-C cables in meeting tables, desks and other workplace furniture.

The user pulls the USB-C cable through the socket and connects it to a laptop. After use, the gravity-assisted mechanism guides the cable back below the tabletop, keeping the connector accessible while preventing loose cable from being left on the table.

The system consists of a metal mounting bracket, cable bag and counterweight. The bracket secures the system below the table, while the bag guides and protects the moving cable. The counterweight provides the retraction force without requiring a motor or electrical power.

Designed for professional furniture and AV installations, the system helps maintain a clean table surface, provides a consistent user experience and reduces unnecessary cable clutter.

Key Benefits

Retractable USB-C cable management

Stores the USB-C cable below the tabletop when it is not in use.

Gravity-assisted operation

Uses a counterweight to guide the cable back below the table after use.

Cable always accessible

Allows users to pull out the cable easily whenever a connection is needed.

Clean table surface

Prevents loose USB-C cable from being left across the tabletop.

Under-table installation

Mounts discreetly beneath meeting tables, desks and workplace furniture.

Metal mounting bracket

Provides a secure mounting point for the retractable system.

Protective cable bag

Guides and contains the moving cable below the table.

No electrical power required

The retractable mechanism operates entirely through gravity and the counterweight.

Designed for Ochno USB-C cables

Works with compatible Ochno cables and retractable socket solutions.
